Spaces of Art: institutional and post-institutional practices in contemporary art engages questions crucial to the future of art institutions and their relationship to contemporary practice in the 21st century. Exploring issues underpinning some of the key curatorial trajectories of the past decade, conditions informing collective production and individual labour, and the shifting relationship of artists, curators, critics and cultural producers toward working within and outside of institutions, Spaces of Art presents concrete discursive contexts and speculative propositions for a range of ongoing experimental practices in Australia, the Asia-Pacific and beyond.

Edited by Reuben Keehan with contributions from Nina Möntmann, Anthony Gardner, Lee Weng Choy, Heejin Kim, Emma Bugden, Isabell Lorey, Alex Baker, Gerald Raunig, Ade Darmawan, David Pistorius, David Cross, Art of Engagement, Jasmin Stephens, Hannah Mathews, Laura Preston, Simon Maidment, Thomas J Berghuis and Lily Hibberd.

Column is a bi-annual periodical that acts as a site for the critical contextualisation, elaboration and extension of Artspace's ongoing program of exhibitions, performances, residencies and public programs.
